"FAGGED-OUT" WOMEN

Will find a helpful suggestion in this letter.

Overworked, run down "fagged-out" women who feel as though they could hardly drag about, should profit by Miss Richter's experience. She says: "Last winter I was completely run down and felt fagged out all the time, was nervous and had indigestion. One of my friends advised me to take Vinol and it has done me great good. The tired, worn-out feeling is all gone and I am strong, vigorous and well. The stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have perfect digestion. I wish every tired, weak, nervous woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good as that I spent for Vinol." Marie Richter, Detroit, Mich.

Thousands of women and men who were formerly weak and sickly owe their present rugged health to the wonderful strengthening effects of Vinol. We guarantee Vinol to build you up and make you strong. If it does not we give back your money. Graham & Company, druggists, Conneltsville, Vinol is sold in West Side by Fred H. Thurnenling.

P. S. For rough, scaly skin, try our Sasso Salve. We guarantee it.—Advertisement.

How The Body Kills Germs.
Germs that get into the body are killed in two ways—by the white corpuscles of the blood, and by germ-killing substances that are in the blood. Just what this substance is, we do not know. The blood of a healthy person always has some germ-killing substance in it to ward off the attack of disease. The fountain head of life is the stomach. A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished. To put the body in healthy condition, to feed the system on rich, red blood and throw out the poisons from the body, nothing in the past forty years has excelled Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a pure glyceric extract (without alcohol), bloodroot, golden seal and Oregon grape root, stone root, mandarin and queen's root with black cherry bark.

"My husband was a sufferer from stomach trouble and impure blood," writes Mrs. James H. Martin, of Frankfort, Ky. "He had a sore on his face that would form a scab which would dry and drop off in about a month, then another would immediately form. It continued this way for a long time. He tried every remedy that any one would suggest, but found no relief. He then tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which completely cured him. He has stayed cured now for two years, and I recommend this valuable medicine for impurities of the blood."

What a German Scientist Said of Beer

"During my trip (New York to Chicago) I had occasion to observe that beer cars met me everywhere. They seemed to me like the red corpuscles in the arteries of the body, for they carry fresh, wholesome fluids to the most remote parts of the country."

Every Household in Connelleville Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blocked.

Help the kidneys with their work. This back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

Mrs. Thomas M. Blier, 261 Connelleville street, Uniontown, Pa., says: "For several years I was in poor health and I now believe that disordered kidneys caused my suffering. My back ached most of the time and my right side was always lame and sore. I always felt depressed and sometimes spots appeared before my eyes, making it almost impossible for me to see. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my notice I began their use and I am glad to say that they did me a world of good. I most heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills." (Statement given October 1, 1907.)

A LASTING EFFECT.

When Mrs. Blier was interviewed on October 14, 1909 she added to the above: "I still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills highly. They effected a permanent cure in my case and I have had no need of any kidney remedy during the past two years."

POLITICAL COURTESY.

Political courtesy is that politeness which duels and engages in. Fine talk never tempered a fierce thrust at the vital part. The Alphonse and Gaston attitude of Professor Wilson's politeness in getting down from the stump after the assassin's bullet disabled Colonel Roosevelt was not prompted by sentimental motives; it was good politics.

The shooting of Colonel Roosevelt was deplorable, but it did not injure his political prospects. Professor Wilson quells the stump, not because he does not want to take advantage of his opponent's disability, but because he fears failure to take such action may reflect upon him and lose him votes out of the sentimental multitude. Colonel Roosevelt is content to stand pat once more. Sympathy is a greater vote-getter than strenuous attack and strong language.

Professor Wilson's speaking campaign has been little short of a failure, while Colonel Roosevelt's abuse has constantly driven support from him and diminished his strength. He reached the zenith at Chicago. He has ever since been going down the other side of the divide. The Professor is pedantic and wholly without personal magnetism. He is a negative, not a positive pole. He repels; he does not attract. It will, therefore, be seen that political strategy requires that Colonel Roosevelt remain a martyr and a subject of sympathy, and Professor Wilson a representative of the law and an object of renewed Democratic adoration.

THE LIMITED COUNCIL BILL.

The limited council bill for the government of cities of the third class presents a very unusual form of government; in fact, it is practically Government-by-Councilman. A Councilman body of four with the Mayor presiding is a pretty close corporation.

It must be admitted that the present form of third class city government is rather cumbersome for communities of 16,000. The substitution of one Councilman body for two will doubtless be an improvement provided the new Council is more representative than that proposed. The present form of municipal government is modeled after the form adopted by the founders of the republic for its government. The centralization of political power was abhorrent to the patriots who with a single stroke of a pen severed the gallies which held them bound and helpless at the feet of tyranny. The present tendency to abolish representation and concentrate power in the hands of a few is an experiment that should be approached with caution.

The limited Council proposition should be more unlimited.

A FLOATABLE STREAM.

The West Virginia courts have decided that the Cheat river is a navigable river of the second class because it is a floatable stream, that is to say logs and rafts may be floated down its tortuous channel during a flood stage, and the right to use it for this purpose may not be nullified or in any manner hindered by obstructing dams. The time has come when there is infinitely more public utility in harnessing water power than in the preservation of an open logging stream, and if the Morgantown bench has interpreted the law correctly the West Virginia Legislature should have no time in changing it at the coming session.

The floatability proposition was all right in the days of candles and ox-carts, but it reads like a joke in an age of electric light and power.

THE CORPORATE TAX YEAR.

The announcement that corporations are required to file their reports for the year ending November 1, 1912, reminds us that the Legislature should change this law to conform with the Federal statute which requires reports to be made annually for the year ending December 31st.

Most corporations balance their books annually with the close of the calendar year. The fiscal year of some are arbitrary, but as a rule the fiscal year is the same as the calendar year, and the Congress seems to have recognized this fact in fixing the period which is to be embraced in the reports required to be made to the Federal Government.

As a matter of government uniformity and of corporate convenience, the tax year should be made the same, and it should embrace the calendar year.

The Official Organ of the Youth Democracy wants to know how the Republican Legislative candidates stand on the Initiative, Referendum and Recall, and demands that they make immediate answer. The Republican candidates don't have to answer. The I. R. R. is not in the Republican platform. The youth is a proper one put to the Democratic and Bull Moose candidates. It is a specialty of their platforms. The Official Organ is catching the wrong Sunday School Class.

The Democratic census of Connelville and surrounding sections, being published daily in the Official Organ of the Youth Democracy, is a fine filler for bare columns.

The sub-urban freight car promises to be highly popular during the famine periods such as now prevail.

Citizens who hesitate to believe that the tariff experiment of 1892 can be repeated in 1912 with no danger of the calamities which followed twenty years ago are called "Calamity Denialists" by the optimistic and exuberant

Democratic press. After all there is not much difference between the Protectionism of the Bull Moose and the Bryanites. One calls its opponents liars and the other calls them fools, but neither of them offer any evidence in support of their epithets.

Amid general prosperity the divorce business holds up well.

The B. & O. management assures Somerset that it will be favored with a new passenger station "as soon as the money is available." Somerset is, therefore, not without starry-eyed hopes.

Wood Wilson couldn't have done it.

Martial law has been re-established in the Kanawha district of West Virginia by the coal operators themselves. This is unfortunate. No law-abiding taxpayer citizen should be compelled to hire armed men to protect his person or his property from unlawful assault. That is the State's business.

Everybody and some of the ladies wanted to see the Fearless One.

President Taft believes in political advertising, but condemns campaign politics. Most people who are not candidates agree with him.

The Democratic rally in Fayette county preserved the same old program. Connelville in the afternoon and Uniontown in the evening. Mud Island was never permitted to become the center of Democratic attraction, but it was always called upon to furnish the Democratic majorities.

Jack Johnson, the colored pugilist champion, is accused of white slavery. If Jack ever gets a short arm jab from the iron hand of the law he will experience one of the worst knock-outs he ever dreamed of.

The Western Maryland Oyster express train from Baltimore reminds us that Connelville is but eight hours from Baltimore, one of the best depots for sea food in the country, yet we have a very indifferent fish market.

Dickerson ran promises to be a prominent railroad center. If Dawson, Dickerson, Run, Vanderbilt and Liberty would consolidate they would make a very imposing town in the census reports. It is profitable to look well on the map.

The McKeesport Board of Trade has a family excursion now and then. The McKeesport boomers believe in getting together and staying close.

The Connelville public schools will have a measure of medical inspection without the aid or consent of the School Board.

If the local freight congestion at Connelville is any indication of the general condition over the country, it is no wonder there are complaints of short car supply.

John Wesley Ridenour's martial band aroused the spirit of the militant Democracy.

Bryan brought rain as well as wind this trip.

The express business in Connelville seems to be coming faster than the deliveries.

It always blows when Bryan comes to Connelville. The local weather works seems to be jealous of the Peerless flower. It must be remembered, however, that the Connelville coke region is something of a Hot Air Center itself.

It was a Democratic field day and Connelville did the handsome.

Connelville gave Colonel Bryan the glad hand yesterday. When it comes to neighborly welcome of a Peerless guest the gallant citizens of the Birmingham City know no crowd nor party.

The brilliant play of Outlander Bryan at the bowl park excited the admiration and received the applause of one of the highest audiences that ever fanned the field.

Field Marshal Bixler was indubitably Democratic.

Hallowell's Proclamation.

I, C. E. ARISON, BURGESS OF THE Borough of Hallowell, do hereby set apart Thursday evening, October 24, 1912, to celebrate our old time Hallowell Hallowell. We invite all our citizens to join us in making it an evening of enjoyment for young and old. We also request all good citizens to assist us to preserve decorum on our streets. No rowdiness will be allowed. Believing that it is better to have one large celebration on Hallowell instead of permitting the promiscuous destruction of property in various parts of the town by questionable amusements, I suggest that a Hallowell parade be held and that the young folks who desire to join in the parade and amuse themselves in that manner.

In recent years the chalk nuisance has become a pest. Not only are public places and houses defaced, but the most obscene writing and drawing have been in shocking evidence the morning following chalk night. The policeman has been instructed to put a stop to chalk night this year.

In former years it has been the custom to destroy much property. We believe that we can prevent this by bringing all together, both young and old, and allow them to parade the streets and have a general good time. The parade will be under the direction of the Chief Marshal, Oda Gray.

At a meeting held at the Burgess' office on Tuesday evening, the following committee was appointed:

Committee of Arrangements—Mrs. G. B. Roberts, chairman; Mrs. J. A. Bailey, Mrs. H. L. Miller, Mrs. J. W. Madigan, Miss Carrie M. Dull, Miss Amanda Strickler, Mrs. H. D. Shallenberger, Mrs. J. C. Moore, Mrs. W. I. Kelly, Mrs. C. C. Collins, Miss Gladys Edwards, Mrs. J. W. Green, C. C. Collins, J. B. Henderson, H. D. Shallenberger, H. L. Miller, Bert Newmeyer, Lewis Marratto and T. W. Gween.

Finance Committee—Paul Telchert, G. B. Roberts, J. B. Henderson, J. W. Madigan, W. A. Cosgrove, Joseph Rull, H. D. Shallenberger, J. D. Bailey.

The Committee of Arrangements will appoint the committee on prizes and all additional committees. The Chief Marshal will appoint his own aids and designate the route of parade.

It makes no difference which line you want. Try our price, try our shoes, and prove the assertion that what you get for what you spend, makes it profitable to buy from the Union Supply Company stores. Shoes are advancing in price daily from the manufacturers caused by the advance in all kinds of material and labor that goes into shoes, yet with all this our prices are low, and if you will give a fair verdict, you will endorse this statement.

SCOTSDALE OUTING CLUB SHOWS GOOD REPORT FOR YEAR

Elects Officers, Names Committees and Arranges for Winter Season.

THIS BOY HAS SOME HARD LUCK

George Miner Always Cooped In at Home on Birthdays—Brother's Wedding Anniversary Comes on Same Day—Mr. Bryan Greeted by Crowd.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 22.—At the last regular meeting of the Scottdale Outing Club the election of the officers was a feature, as well as were reports of the club's finances, which showed the organization in the best condition that it ever has been. The appointment of some new committees was made, and plans were made for several smokers to be given during the winter, and also the annual banquet, which will be held in January.

A number of new applicants for membership are being received and voted upon, and all those joining now will be eligible for the smokers and the banquet. All the members that took part in the outing this year voted it the best one that they have attended. The plans now being considered if carried out will make this coming outing one to excel previous records.

The following officers were elected to serve during the coming year: President, E. T. Smith; Vice President, C. R. King; Secretary, R. T. Morford; Treasurer, Julius Lombard; Auditors, C. W. Hipp, J. Glendonning and C. K. Shum. The Permanent Social Committee is made up of Julius Lombard, chairman, E. T. Lane, J. Glendonning, M. J. Thimery and C. B. Trimble.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY. Mr. and Mrs. Judson T. Strickler celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage on Tuesday evening, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Strickler and brothers, A. J. Strickler and Dr. James P. Strickler and wife present and as honor guests the Rev. and Mrs. H. S. Plummer and the latter's sister, Mrs. Little, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Barkell. While it was the tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Strickler it was also the ninth anniversary of the marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Strickler.

VISIT OF THE STORK. Frank M. Newcomer, Secretary of Council wears that smile that won't come off, all on account of a baby boy that came to bless his home on Sunday afternoon, making a trio of children, two boys and one girl in the Newcomer family.

GEORGE HAD LUCK. George, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miner doesn't have any luck whatever apparently about the time of his birthday, except that he is able to have the anniversary, but for the last three of them he has been cooped up at home each time. Two years ago it was typhoid pneumonia that kept him indoors, last year it was diphtheria, and this year he is the only boy in Scottdale that has never been out of doors. George's birthday anniversary comes on the 29th, and the postcard card on the front porch says George will be in doors that day. "One good thing, he is getting closer every year even if he can't have a birthday party."

NO CROWD OUT. There was a big crowd gathered about the Pennsylvania station Tuesday afternoon awaiting the special train taking William Jennings Bryan, through to speak at Connellsville and Uniontown. About 1,000 people of all ages gathered, and George (Bryan) Shaw, of Connellsville, candidate for Congressman-at-large, the only State candidate for office this year in Westmoreland county, introduced Mr. Bryan from the rear end of the train. Mr. Shaw said, and the young lawyer has an earnest, rounded voice for just such speeches, "Friends, I know that you are not all Democrats in this crowd, but I know you are all Bryan men, and I believe in the power and honor of introducing William Jennings Bryan, who made the great fight for the people at Baltimore." Mr. Bryan appeared and was applauded by the crowd. He gave a brief one of the most classical five-minute talks ever heard in Scottdale.

The ONLOOKER

WILBUR D. NESBIT.

The TEST

He has proposed—and O the joy That fills her heart today! A gladness nothing can destroy Abides with her, to stay. So never to her rapture is No words may tell it all. She knows her heart to that of his Forevermore shall call.

"Is not that he proposed—Ah, no. A dozen men have a right. And spoken things designed to show Their longing to be tied. And each, rejected, soon and there His sorrow has displayed—And very soon his love would swear To quite another maid."

She knows that men are fickle things, Whose no inconstant hearts Keep Cupid rushing both his wings To be there with his darts. But an exception she has found, A man whose love is true, As surely as the world is round Or as the sky is blue.

When he proposed she wore a hat That hid her nose and chin, A dress that made her like a statue—A shapeless thing, and thin. But in his most enamored tone He told her life was worth The living for just his alone—The fairest thing on earth.

And no she knows that love is blind, But times she has a right. For fear some day a fate unkind May give him back his sight. But still she says that if he vows She's fair in such a way, Then must his heart forever house Dan Cupid's biggest barb.

HELPED HER EYESIGHT.

Maggie—And so Edythe is suing for a divorce? I thought love was blind, and all that.

Fanny—But she married an oculist, you know.

Difference in Detail. "As to men and women," said Mr. Meddergrass, seating himself conveniently near the dried beef, "I have observed that a man can always tell you whether or not a woman's face is powdered, and his wife can always tell you whether or not the same woman's skirt hangs right, after they have passed the forehead female on the street."

The Political Primer. "What are voters?" asks the off-holder of the Candidate. "Voters," glibly recites the Candidate, "are people who want us to enact laws that will compel us to be honest."

"Correct. Go up to the head of the class."

What About It?

"Work is what we make money at; play is what we don't," said the Man of Ponderous Wisdom.

"What about playing the races?" inquired the Young Man who had cashed a hundred-to-one ticket that afternoon.

DUTY OF LAWMAKERS TO SHIELD INDUSTRY FROM COMPETITION

Economic Conditions in U. S. Require Encouragement of Business.

OPINION OF EXPERTS GIVEN

Stimulation of National Prosperity and Elimination of Destructive Opposing Forces, It Is Declared, Should Be Aim of Legislators.

The most imperative obligation upon any nation is to find for its people employment at productive industry. The fact that two-thirds of the land in Ireland lies fallow, that one man in thirty in the British islands is a pauper, that millions of people have fled from those shores, and that England can produce but three months' supply of food for a population that ought to be able to feed itself, is the incontrovertible proof that her economic system is wrong.

Man at work is the most valuable asset of a nation. An idle man, consuming without producing, burns the candle at both ends, and is worse than worthless.

Individuals cannot provide conditions under which productive industry may be successfully conducted. The law-maker must create the conditions. The development and maintenance of industry being vital, the duty of the law-maker is to shelter industry from destructive competition from foreigners and to encourage and stimulate the upbuilding of new industries.

To permit hostile fleets to batter down our cities would be less foolhardy than to suffer Europeans to destroy the processes by which our people earn their bread and enrich the nation, while they urge it toward independence.

A Fence Around the Garden.

The protective tariff is in the nature of a fence around the garden, to protect the worker and his product from marauders.

As the population expands and old industries grow fast, new industries must be encouraged so as to draw off redundant labor into fresh channels. Thus in 1890 we imported all the tin plate, of which we are the largest users in the world. Twice Great Britain throttled unprotected American ventures in tin plate manufacture. In the McKinley tariff we put a protective duty on tin plate. In 1891 we made at home 2,000,000 pounds. In 1905 we made 1,000,000,000 pounds. In 1911 the British nation, having a monopoly, charged Americans $2.34 for a 100-pound box of coke Bessemer tin plate. In September, 1904, the American mills sold the same article for $2.20 a box.

Who Pays the Duty?

What has this duty cost the American consumer? Nothing! He has saved millions of dollars under the protective duty, made employment for 40,000 American workmen, and a home market has been proving a large quantities of American material. The history of the beet sugar industry runs along the same lines; so does that of the pearl button business. For centuries worthless shellfish have grown and perished in the mud of the rivers of the Mississippi valley while we bought pearl buttons by hundreds of tons from Europe. We put a protective duty on pearl buttons and lo! the valueless nuisance in the slums became sources of wealth, and now we bent the world on buttons, employ large numbers of American folk in the manufacture and add to the nation's wealth.

A competent tariff means no willfully idle men. A tariff with cracks in it, a half-tariff, a tariff with no margin for fluctuating prices and changing conditions, must mean American out of work because Europeans do the work that should be done at home.

Fortunately the nation adheres tenaciously to the right system.

HOW FREE TRADE SAPS INDUSTRIES

How the Dingley Law Banished Idleness and Unhindered a Period of Industry and Prosperity.

An apparent change in public sentiment upon vital questions of public policy, especially when it indicates a departure from long-established principles which have worked well and which have been approved by concurred wise and eminent statesmen, should be construed with great care by those having the welfare of the republic in keeping, and be encouraged and fostered only upon the most profound analysis of the causes which give it inspiration, and upon the sincere conviction that the end to be attained is the permanent welfare of the whole people. The Greenback party, during the business depression which followed the war, and the free-silver frenzy which imperiled the financial integrity of the country in 1896, were both formidable manifestations of public sentiment which received such encouragement from political parties that they gained a degree of strength that made them national perils—all because they had been temporized with and encouraged by political aspirants for office. They were only checked by the courageous action of those statesmen and citizens who had the courage to defend sound and long-established financial doctrines and principles.

The downward revision program is a policy calculated to assuage irritations and to conciliate opposition by sacrificing principles. It may triumph for a short time, but the end will be a return to sound protective principles, for it will destroy industrial stability and produce a reaction in public sentiment in favor of protection. Free trade has more than once crushed agriculture and sapped the foundation of our manufacturing industries. Discontent cannot be permanently appeased by multiplying the causes which are sure to bring about more discontent. It is much cheaper to appease discontented minds by promising a temporary relief than it is to correct erroneous opinions and to combat prejudicial by rational arguments.

The protective system has been the most potent influence for maintaining and nourishing industries that has yet been devised. It was founded by our ancestors, and no political power has since arisen which could accomplish its extinction. Following every attempt at its overthrow it has revived and spread to new fields and gained more permanent strength. It is so interwoven with individual prosperity and well-being that to assail it is to attack the homes and friends of the people. Is an institution which has withstood the political shocks of a century, and is now more universally accepted than at any time in the world's history, to be abandoned by that people who have reached an eminence under its beneficent influences which surpasses all other industrial achievements known among men?

It is the cause of the people; it is the bulwark of their industrial independence and the very basis of their progress and prosperity. It cannot be permanently destroyed. The strongest and most deeply rooted convictions of the people cannot be eradicated. The ambitions of the most enterprising and industrious people on earth cannot be stifled. The political controversies of generations cannot be forgotten. The lion will not lie down with the lamb nor the serpent nestle with the dove. The people will not long be dominated by the hallucination that we can have high wages and low prices at the same time; that we can import goods from abroad and at the same time make them at home. The passion for a change has been appealed to and incited to a fervid heat with little warning of the perils of such innovation. Has there been discovered a single example in the industrial history of nations to justify the abandonment of those economic principles which form the basis of our national growth and prosperity? No, not one, for none exists.

From 1894 to 1897 the country was filled with unemployed capital on the one hand, holding aloof from investment, and millions of idle labor on the other hand seeking in vain for work. The very object of capital to find opportunities for profitable investment and the efforts of labor to obtain work were defeated. Our whole industrial structure was thrown out of balance. The country was filled with money, but it was not in circulation; it was filled with labor which was idle; it was rich in resources, but they were forbidden to be touched. Ruin stared the whole nation in the face. The Gorman-Wilson law had decreed that we must engage foreign capital to promote industries and furnish labor to perform the work, because the products of such capital and labor could be had cheaper abroad than at home. The Dingley law restored the home market and reunited our capital and labor. For fifteen years the two have worked and grown together, and by mutual support and aid; agriculture, manufacturing, mining, trade and commerce have expanded in an unparalleled ratio. The Dingley law banished idleness and ushered in a period of industry and prosperity such as no people have ever enjoyed in the history of nations.

Is the fatal blunder of 1894 to be repeated before the insolvents and destitutes of that calamitous time have gone to their graves? It is most amazing that a single statesman, financier, economist, or citizen who passed through the dire experience of the Gorman-Wilson period should remain silent while witnessing our industries again being led to the slaughter and our laborers to idleness and want.

Opposed to Protection.

Mr. Wilson has proudly boasted that he is a Democrat, both by inheritance and conviction. That means that he is unalterably opposed to the system of protection to American industries as devised and maintained by the Republican party.

Professor Wilson taught the theory of free trade to his classes in political economy at Princeton university; he has embodied his views in print and has denounced protection from the lecture platform and the political stump.

Mr. Taft, on the other hand, has always been a consistent supporter of the principle of protection and the determined opponent of the doctrine of free trade. The issue between the two clearly joined.

The question is, Shall the American people, favored as they have been by protection, prosperous as they are by reason of the benefits of a protective tariff, abandon all these benefits and risk a return to the soup houses of the Cleveland administration, by supporting a candidate who has never to my white as a pedagogue and an executive, is pledged to war against the protective policy, to the injury of the manufacturing interests of this state. That is the issue on which the battle must be fought in this nation; the issue on which by an appeal to the intelligent voters of this nation.

How a Tariff For Revenue Works.

Imports of all kinds in the twelve months ending June 30, 1912, amounted to $1,653,425,174, of which $881,743,144 were free of duty, while less than half, or $771,683,030, were dutiable and competitive articles. Should the tariff-for-revenue policy prevail, and the rates of duty be lowered, the dutiable imports would have to increase in quantity to keep the revenue where it now is; and the lower the duties the greater would have to be the volume of imports in order to maintain the revenue.

Now it would seem clear that the present policy of getting an average of about 41 per cent on $771,683,030 worth of dutiable imports, or considerably more than $300,000,000 of revenue, is a better policy than that of reducing the duty to, say, a 20 per cent average and being compelled to double the importation of competitive merchandise in order to get that $300,000,000 of revenue.

In the latter case we should have to import more than $1,650,000,000 a year of foreign merchandise that would take the place of a good deal more than a billion and a half of domestic production. Think this over and see whether a protective tariff on $771,000,000 of imports is not better than a revenue tariff on a billion and a half dollars' worth of foreign-made goods.

Millions For Defense.

If it be worth while to spend hundreds of millions every year for battleships, in making ready for a gunpowder war which is likely never to come, why is it not well to employ for our protection our available law machinery for services in a commercial war at this very moment raging the world over?

Commerce is indeed war—and mercenary war. No tidings could bring to Europeans a thrill of joy equal to that which would come to the old world if announcement should be made that one-half the manufacturing power of the American nation were wrecked and ruined and finally forever wiped out of existence.

CHARLES HEBBER CLARK.

The Government and the Farmer.

Thoughtless people sometimes say why should the government give aid and comfort, through the instrumentality of a tariff law, to a single class of citizens—the manufacturers?

The aid is to be given, of course, where it is needed. Builders, lawyers, retailers and so forth are sufficiently protected by nature. The manufacturer gets help where it is required. The farmer, also, let us note, gets it far more abundantly where he requires it.

Do you ever reflect upon what our government has done and now does, for the American farmer?

Millions of farms were given, years ago in the west, to the farmers absolutely without charge. The government never gave a mill to a manufacturer. Other millions of farms have been sold by the government, and now are selling, at the lowest of low prices. The nation maintains an agricultural department (the manufacturers have no department), which costs from ten millions to twelve million a year. This department not only distributes vast quantities of seeds, but it instructs the farmers, analyzes their soils, improves their animals, destroys at great cost the cotton boll worm and injurious insects and helps them to stamp out diseases in plants and animals.

Hundreds of millions are spent in construction of irrigation works so that poor land may be redeemed for the farmers, and in divers and sundry other ways the American farmer is assisted, encouraged, upheld and made the object of incessant large expenditures.

No man may complain of this. It is well done. That is what a government is for, to do for the people the things that they cannot do for themselves. We are the government. The money is ours. All these tolls are our brethren. All are Americans. Their welfare is our welfare. The soil feeds every man of us. The huge expenditure for the splendid development of agriculture is an investment of a common fund for the benefit of all.

But if this be true for the farmer, why is it not true for the manufacturer? The farmer, rightly, gets enormous sums of money as a gratuity from the treasury and he is the constant object of solicitude—almost maternal—attention.

What does the manufacturer get? Absolutely nothing but shelter for his business from a powerful foreign rival, whose highest felicity would be the annihilation of his American competitor.

CHARLES HEBBER CLARK.

What the Workingman Gets.

The deposits in the savings banks represent a part, and only a part, of the surplus, over and above the living expenses of the earnings of the man who works for wages.

Under the much maligned and much misrepresented protective tariff system we have procured in forty years, from 1850 to 1900, the following results for the American workingman:

In that time the number of wage earners in American mills increased four times;

The wages paid in American mills increased seven times;

The number of deposits in savings banks increased ten times;

The amount of deposits in savings banks increased sixteen times.

These remarkable facts conclusively prove that wages are increasing and the workingman's surplus is steadily enlarging.

There is further and very remarkable proof of this statement:

From 1880 to 1907 the population of the United States increased from thirty-one million to eighty-six million or two and three-fourths times.

From 1850 to 1907 the savings banks deposits increased from $150,000,000 to $3,500,000,000 or twenty-four times.

In the presence of these notable positively accurate figures, what becomes of the contention that "the rich are growing richer while the poor are growing poorer?"

Ways of the Oyster.

Oysters after they have been brought away from the sea know by instinct the exact hour when the tide is rising and approaching their beds and so of their own accord open their shells to receive the food from the sea as if they were still at home.

LITTLE SETTLER IN VINEYARD HOME SHADED BY PALM TREES

CATTLE CROSSING OVER IRRIGATING CANAL

HOME and social life in Northern California is the most pleasant because there are more bright days than in Southern Italy, and there is every convenience for bringing people together.

FARMS in the Sacramento Valley produce many more times net profit to the acre than Eastern farms because the soil is the best, sun shining every day, and there is plenty of good water for irrigating, with proper drainage.

ORANGES, potatoes, alfalfa and all fruits, grains, grasses and vegetables mature earlier in Northern California than in any part of the world.

STOCK and POULTRY are easier to raise and produce more because the climate is healthful and green feed grows in abundance.

MARKETS are very near, with cheap railroad and river transportation, making financial success sure.

If interested, we urge you to write us today and learn of people who are making big money there now.

Let us know what you wish most to be informed about and get an instructive reply.

Don't delay, every day now sees new settlers moving on this land, as it is ready for seed, and the best farms go first.

Geig Swarthmore Football Coach.
From Annapolis is wanted the wait that Swarthmore College football team last Saturday afternoon, played basketball instead of football in the game against the Navy. The Swarthmore eleven showed a mastery of the forward pass in so great a number of variations as to keep the "midfield" guessing from start to finish. Captain Geig who is on the reserve list of the Conneltsville Basketball Association, is coaching Swarthmore. Geig was obtained by Conneltsville from Greensburg.

Basketball League Meets Tonight.
President Robert Morris and N. A. Coffey, of the Conneltsville Basketball Association, said today they expected to attend the meeting of the Central League directors at Pittsburgh this evening, when it will be decided what teams shall compose the league this year and as to the tentative schedule. Coffey has been named a representative of the local association at all league meetings.

Powell Causes Frenzied Worry.
Many of Big Bill Powell's baseball friends are not enthused over his determination to play basketball next season. Powell is a former Pirates' baseball pitcher and will get another chance next year to establish himself in the major league. Some of his admirers fear he will hurt his chances by participating in the floor game. Powell is under contract with Uniontown.

Local Players to Rehearse.
Boggs and Gifford, Conneltsville players, have been named by the Rehearsal team of the Eastern basketball league according to advice received here today. Boggs was on the team last year. Gifford was on the reserve list. Both players reside at Reviding. The Rehearsal club also has elected Pfeffer of Charleston, and George Morris, of the Uniontown team.

Eastern Basketball November 1.
The Eastern Basketball League opens November 4 and closes March 22.
